Mia: Yeah, I feel stressed because I didn't sleep well.

Ben: Oh no. I feel nervous when I don't sleep enough too.

Mia: I'll be fine. After I drink some tea, I feel more calm.

Ben: That's good. Although I'm worried, I'm trying to stay positive.

Mia: Same. I get nervous before tests, but studying helps me.

Ben: True. I feel proud when I finish my homework early.

Mia: Me too! It makes me feel thankful because I have more time to relax.

Week 17 - Lesson 65

Ava: How was your road trip?

Leo: It was great! We had packed our bags before we left.

Ava: And the hotel?

Leo: They had prepared our room before we arrived.

Ava: That sounds perfect!

Leo: Yes, everyone had planned a family party, so we were very happy.

Ava: Did you see your cousins?

Leo: Yes! We had not seen them for three years.

Ava: I'm glad you enjoyed the trip.

Week 17 - Lesson 66

Last weekend, Lucas went to a family reunion. He was a little nervous because he hadn't seen his cousins in years. Before the party, his parents hadn't prepared anything, so they arrived late. When they got there, Lucas still hadn't eaten, because the food wasn't ready yet. By the time everyone took pictures, Lucas hadn't met the new members of the family. He felt shy at first, but later he was happy.

Week 17 - Lesson 68

Last week, Daniel had a very busy day. He was tired because he had returned from a long trip. When he arrived at work, he felt stressed because he had not prepared for the big meeting. His coworkers were upset because they had waited in traffic that morning. During the meeting, Daniel was confused because he had not checked the report correctly and there was a mistake. By the time everything ended, everyone laughed and relaxed, but Daniel still felt exhausted because he had worked all afternoon.

Week 18 - Lesson 69

Yesterday morning, Olivia was exhausted.

She had been studying for her English exam all night.

Her friends were worried because she had been working on projects since last month.

When she finally arrived at school, everyone noticed she looked tired.

It made sense—she had been reviewing her notes before the test started.

Week 18 - Lesson 70

Last Saturday, Liam felt nervous before the game.

He wasn't confident because he hadn't been practicing with the team.

His classmates were worried because they hadn't been sleeping well all week.

The coach was upset because the players hadn't been paying attention during training.

By the time the match started, everyone was tired because they hadn't been resting.

UNIT 4

By the time you see us tomorrow, we will not have been working in the noisy classroom all morning, because the teacher had to change rooms.

Lucas will not have been studying in silence, since he lost his headphones again. The construction outside will still be loud, but the school will not have been repairing the windows for weeks. When you arrive, I'm not sure if Emma will have been reading in a quiet room or with loud music. And everyone will ask, "Will we have been waiting in traffic for more than an hour before the meeting starts?"

Week 18 - Lesson 79

By the end of the semester, Laura will have been studying every night without sleep for almost two weeks. Her classmates will have been extremely focused during exam week, but Laura will have been mentally tired because of her job.

Meanwhile, Mark and Sofia will have been full of hope, since they worked as a team and helped each other. Their professor believes that, by graduation, the whole group will have been more confident and less emotionally drained.

Week 19 - Lesson 80

By the end of this semester, our class will have been studying with no teacher, because the school couldn't find a permanent teacher. Some students will have been learning with substitutes, but we won't know if it really helped. Mateo will have been practicing with a tutor for months, so he will be more confident in presentations. However, the rest of the group will have been working in crowded classrooms, and everyone will ask why the results are so different.

Week 19 - Lesson 71

Mia: The project was great!

Leo: Yes. Our team had been brainstorming before the meeting.

Mia: And the designers?

Leo: They had been sketching before the presentation.

Mia: What about the video?

Leo: The students had been editing before the deadline.

Mia: I see.

Leo: We had been rehearsing before the event.

Week 19 - Lesson 73

Mia: Hey, are you ready for next semester?

Leo: I think so. By then, I will have finished all my assignments.

Mia: Nice! I will have completed a course in literature before December.

Leo: That sounds tough.

Mia: Yeah, but I hope I will have learned enough vocabulary to pass the exam.

Leo: Same here. I will have presented my science project before the holidays.

Mia: Wow! And what about the essay?

Leo: Don't remind me. I will have written it the night before!

Week 20 - Lesson 74

Hi, class. The semester is almost over, and I've been thinking about everything. I'm not proud of myself. By next Friday, I won't have finished the number of tasks my teacher gave me. I tried, but it was too much. Also, I won't have saved enough money to buy the books I need. I know that means I won't have read more than two books this month. And if the weather stays bad, I won't have walked 10,000 steps even once. I'm also worried that I won't have met my personal goals for the semester, but at least I know I won't have given up.

Week 20 - Lesson 75

Interviewer: Hi, Lucas. Tell us about your plans.

Lucas: Sure. By the end of this year, I will have earned experience working in customer support. Before I start university, I will have developed my communication skills through online courses. In two years, I will have designed three small projects to show companies. Before I turn 25, I will have saved enough money to start my own business. And if everything goes well, by 2030, I will have gotten a promotion and led my first team.

Week 20 - Lesson 76

Emma: Are you nervous about the end of the school year?

Liam: A little, but I'm hopeful. By then, I will have passed all my final exams.

Emma: Wow, really?

Liam: Yeah, and I will have completed the science project before next Friday.

Emma: That's great!

Liam: What about you?

Emma: I'm not sure... I don't think I will have finished my book before the deadline.

Liam: That's okay.

Emma: But I'm confident I will have improved my presentation skills by the time we graduate.

Liam: So in the end, we both will have achieved something important.

UNIT 4

Week 20 - Lesson 77

1. By tonight, she will have been working under pressure.
2. By Friday, he will have been working hard in training.
3. By Saturday, they will have been staying on vacation.
4. By next month, she will have been studying in the program.
5. By 6 p.m., he will have been following a schedule.
6. By next week, they will have been living off campus.

Week 20 - Lesson 78

By the time you see us tomorrow, we will not have been working in the noisy classroom all morning, because the teacher had to change rooms. Lucas will not have been studying in silence, since he lost his headphones again. The construction outside will still be loud, but the school will not have been repairing the windows for weeks. When you arrive, I'm not sure if Emma will have been reading in a quiet room or with loud music. And everyone will ask, "Will we have been waiting in traffic for more than an hour before the meeting starts?"

Week 20 - Lesson 79

By the end of the semester, Laura will have been studying every night without sleep for almost two weeks. Her classmates will have been extremely focused during exam week, but Laura will have been mentally tired because of her job. Meanwhile, Mark and Sofia will have been full of hope, since they worked as a team and helped each other. Their professor believes that, by graduation, the whole group will have been more confident and less emotionally drained.

Week 20 - Lesson 80

By the end of this semester, our class will have been studying with no teacher, because the school couldn't find a permanent teacher. Some students will have been learning with substitutes, but we won't know if it really helped. Mateo will have been practicing with a tutor for months, so he will be more confident in presentations. However, the rest of the group will have been working in crowded classrooms, and everyone will ask why the results are so different.
